Dedication

Conrad L. Inman, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

To Dr. Inman, a teacher and a friend to all of us, a man whose professional ability is inspirational, a man who promotes joviality and relaxation in moments of leisure, but who also encourages serious endeavor during practice hours, a man who has earned the respect not only of his colleagues and his students, but also of the laymen, we of the Senior Class of the University of Maryland School of Dentistry consider it a privilege to dedicate this book.

Farewell

DR. J. BEN RORINSON speaks at a testimonial dinner given in his honor by the Alumni of the B. C. D. S.

On his retirement on May 1, Dr. J. Ben Robinson, Dean of the School of Dentistry since 1924, will leave his alma mater with a remarkable record of competent administration and leadership. Throughout the years of his occupancy of the deanship he has made important contributions in most of the areas of dental thought and action. On all levels of organization he has been vitally active in promoting the best interests of his profession. In the field of literature he has been an eloquent and efficacious advocate of all elements of progress that would make dentistry a stronger and more versatile contributor to the health needs of the people. As a vigorous and stimulating speaker he has spoken before an amazing number of groups throughout the country, bringing to them earnestly delivered and fluently expressed messages that have greatly influenced the character and status of thousands of his fellow dentists. Undoubtedly Dr. Robinson has accomplished his most valuable work in the field of dental education. As Dean of the University of Maryland's School of Dentistry he has been of immeasurable worth to his own School, for during his long service in that office he has been a benign and abounding influence in the development of scores of teachers and in the training of several thousand students who have graduated with an excellent preparation for the successful fulfillment of their obligations as members of a great profession. As a member of the Council on Dental Education, 1938-51, and as a source of directive and advisory strength in the American Association of Dental Schools, Dean Robinson has been the greatest individual force in the impressvie enlargement of the curriculum, the greatly expanded physical facilities and the tremendously improved teaching that have marked the splendid progress of dental education in the past quarter of a century.

To comment on all the awards, honors and degrees he has received, the organizations he has been a member of or headed, and his accomplishments both within and outside of the field of dentistry would require most of the space in this book. Suffice it to say that it is the opinion of the leaders in the dental profession, each one of whom has had many opportunities for observation and analysis, that Dr. Robinson is the most honored man in the history of dentistry. No other man has received so many awards for his services to the profession and no other man has been privileged to head so many dental organizations.

Dr. Robinson has earned the warm appreciation and firm respect of the students, the faculty and the alumni of the School of Dentistry. After twenty-nine years of service as Dean he leaves Maryland with their best wishes for happy and fruitful years ahead. They know, as do the thousands of dentists throughout the country, that he will go from the University of Maryland to become the first Dean of the dental school to be established at West Virginia University. The men of Maryland bid affectionate and deeply regretful farewell to their Dean and hope that he will come back often to his old Baltimore environment.

J. BEN ROBINSON, D.D. S., SC. D., F. A. C. D.

Doctor J. Ben Robinson received his undergraduate training at Marshall College. After a period of postgraduate study at West Virginia University he spent six years as a teacher in the public schools of West Virginia. In 1911 he began the study of dentistry at the University of Maryland. On his graduation (magna cum laude) in 1914 he joined the faculty of his alma mater as Demonstrator of Operative Dentistry. In 1917 Dr. Robinson was appointed Professor of Clinical Dentistry, and in 1918, Professor of Operative Dentistry. He filled this chair until 1921, when he resigned and was elected President of the Maryland State Dental Association. Appointed by Governor Ritchie to the State Board of Dental Examiners, Dr. Robinson served from 1922 to 1924, when he resigned to become Dean of the Dental School. Under his skillful and wise administration the world's oldest dental college has continued to gain in the strength of its faculty, the value of its curriculum, and the quality of its graduates.

Dr. Robinson's enthusiastic support of measures for the achievement and maintenance of high standards in dental education; his ardent interest in dental history; his ability to speak and write effectively on the important questions related to dentistry; his forceful and highly capable leadership on all levels of dental organization; his noteworthy fulfillment of the professional man's obligations to his community—these qualifications make Dean Robinson a man whom his fellow alumni and other professional associates proudly hail as an outstanding figure in American dentistry.

Silver Anniversary

Gardner P. H. Foley, M. A.

Professor of Dental Literature

Of the men who have given much of their energies to the enrichment of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery as a leading dental institution, certainly few have contributed more than Gardner P. H. Foley, who at this time completes his twenty-fifth year as a member of the University of Maryland faculty. As Professor of Dental Literature, Mr. Foley has been not only an intelligent advisor and instructor of dental students, but also an enthusiastic contributor to dental literature in he United States. His writings have appeared in both the Journal of the American Dental Association and the Journal of the American College of Dentists, as well as in the Journal of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, which he now serves as editor. Since 1938, he has served as advisor to the MIRROR Staff. Further, Mr. Foley holds the distinction of being one of five founders of the American Academy of the History of Dentistry, and he is currently representing this group as editor for the second successive year. He is well known in the alumni association of the University, as a prolific contributor to Maryland Magazine, the publication of that group. Evidence of his interest in the student body of the dental school is reflected by the fact that his presentation before a faculty seminar two years ago led to the formation of the now-functioning student senate.

In 1928 Mr. Foley accepted an appointment in the Department of English of the University, assigned to the School of Pharmacy. Previously he had served on the faculties of the University of Tennessee and the University of Mississippi. In 1929 he became a member of the faculty in the School of Dentistry, predental course. Until 1941 he taught students of both schools; in that year, however, he was selected by the School of Dentistry to teach the course in Oral and Written Expression, a new departure for dental schools. During the past decade the course has come to be a valuable addition to the curriculum.

Gardner P. H. Foley was born in Gloucester, Massachusetts, March 18, 1902. It was here that he attended public schools, and worked in the bank of which his Father was the President during his summer vacations from Clark University, where he studied for both the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees. The experience gained from working with his father enabled him to become an authority on banking correspondence, and he has lectured frequently before the chapters of the American Banking Institute in both Washington and Baltimore. While studying in the undergraduate school at Clark, Mr. Foley gave much of his time to dramatics and various student publications; he did not, however, forget his love for sports, for he earned his letters in both track and soccer.

Mr. Foley had been away from Gloucester twelve years when the Annual Fisherman's Memorial Exercises were held in 1937, but the citizens of the city had not forgotten him. In that year he was asked to give the principal address on the day set aside to honor those men who had lost their lives in the coastal waters of New England.

Certainly, Mr. Foley's many duties while associated with the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery have not prevented him from actively participating in various civic functions in Baltimore. He has appeared in leading roles at the Vagabond Theatre and at the Johns Hopkins Playshop, and has made several appearances during the past few years on the program of the Enoch Pratt Library, "Afternoons With the Poets." To be sure, the twenty-five years have been rich in experiences for Gardner Foley; rich, too, for those students who have known him during these years.

James Baxter Bean (Class of 1860)

(This is the second in a series of articles about distinguished graduates of the School.)

When the faculty of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery presented its degree to James Baxter Bean in 1860, the young graduate expressed an earnest desire to explore the technical procedures of dentistry. This he ultimately did, to be sure; yet Bean's contributions to the progress of his profession were just as significant in other phases of the science. In 1865 the Surgeon-General of the Confederate States of America wrote Doctor Bean, saying that: ". . . you are instructed to hold yourself in readiness to be ordered to any hospital, where your services may be required in the application and adjustment of your apparatus for treating fractures of the inferior and superior maxillary bones." So it came to be that the young doctor's method, which called for the use of a vulcanite interdental splint, was recognized as the most efficient and practical means of reducing fractures of the mandible and maxilla. Bean, however, attached so little importance to the apparatus that he made no attempt to report either the manner of his treatment, or the case histories involved, in any of the dental or medical journals of the period. Actually, it is doubtful that Bean would have devoted so much time to the application of the splint, had it not been for the demands placed on him by the dentists and surgeons of the Confederacy.

Doctor Bean was born in a small village in Tennessee, July 19, 1834. Before entering the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, he had studied and practiced medicine in the small post-town of Micanopy, Florida. He returned to Micanopy after his graduation in Baltimore, but within the year he had moved to Atlanta, Georgia. Here his reputation as a competent dental operator became better established; it was here, too, that he did much of the research on his interdental splint.

It is noteworthy that Doctor Bean belonged to that rather small group of American dentists who had the advantage of a formal dental education; further, the men of this group were confronted primarily with the most elementary problems involved in the repair and replacement of the teeth. To many, however, operative dentistry was at best a tedious, expensive, and often uncertain procedure. Consequently, many dentists of the early nineteenth century were interested in improving the available means of replacing missing teeth. Bean himself exemplified this interest in many ways. His first published paper, "Plaster and Its Manipulation," involved a discussion of methods for producing accurate impressions and articulated, "antagonizing" models. The doctor's ingenuity and experience then led him to several years of research on the interdental splint. However, soon after the war, Bean moved to Baltimore and continued his study of several dental techniques which he felt could be improved upon. One of his more extensive studies involved the use of aluminum as a denture base material. Although very enthusiastic for a time about its possibilities, he was not successful in winning acceptance for its use. However, his paper on the subject described a unique method of casting aluminum bases, and his efforts contributed much to the development of the casting process.

Doctor Bean's last published paper was a description of his method for restoring porcelain crowns to root portions of anterior teeth, by means of dowels similar to those used today. Before he could carry on further studies, an untimely death ended his short career. In the summer of 1870, Bean sailed from New York to Europe for an extended vacation. While in France, he was persuaded by a group of energetic and adventurous friends to join in a mountain-climbing expedition. The group was completely inexperienced in such matters, and all lost their lives on the mountain, attempting to descend from its summit. Thus the dental profession lost a man who, at thirty-seven, was greatly respected for his contributions to dental research, as well as for his considerable talents which had brought improvements to methods developed by men who had preceded him.

Class History

At last the time has come—we are graduates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. For all of us this is the end of at least six years of study, preparation and dreaming; for many of us it is the end of seven and eight years. Now, there will be no more dreaming, for from the time of graduation the world becomes reality with respect to things learned in these past years—the things which we must put to every-day use. But, what of study and preparation? They cannot be ended at this time, nor at any time in the future. To make ourselves competent men of our profession, we must continually study, keeping pace with the constant changes; we must prepare daily for these changes and employ them in our techniques so that we may render better service to the patient, to the community, to ourselves, and to our profession. Yes, it is the end of dreaming, but only the beginning of study, and only a brief pause in preparation.

The quality of dentists who are graduated from the BCDS depends upon two major factors: the quality of instruction and the quality of the student. We owe a debt of gratitude to the untiring efforts of our instructors. It would be difficult to say just how much these men have influenced our lives. Through the diligent application of the principles we have learned during the past four years it is our desire that the Class of '53 shall be able not only to equal, but to surpass, the standards set by former graduates if that be possible. One thing we believe: that the quality of instruction could not have been better than it has been. Therefore, it is up to us to determine the quality of ourselves as students and to work to the limit of our capabilities. Then, and only then, will anyone be able to ascertain the quality of the graduating class. We intend to make it the best.

The MIRROR extends congratulations to Dr. Stanley H. Dosh upon his election as Honorary President of the Class of 1953. Dr. Dosh was graduated from the B. C. D. S. in 1935 and is now Associate Professor of Fixed Partial Prosthesis.

So, through four years at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery we have studied hard, worked hard, played hard and sweated. They have been an enjoyable four years for the most part. Yet, everything cannot always be enjoyable. There have been moments of despair—times when we might have thought that we were being imposed upon—times when things did not go "just right" — times of frustration. Happily, those times are only temporary, and probably will lead to a greater enjoyment of the times when things do go "just right." We leave the school, then, with a tingle of emotion towards our Alma Mater. We are about to inherit a rich reward—the dental profession. It is up to us to hold it at its highest present status and to contribute toward its advancement as much as we can.

Yes, we leave the School with a slight sadness, but we look forward to our future with joy and say in our hearts:"Thank you BCDS for preparing us so well."

Class History

In the last three years we have seen and learned much of the biologic sciences. Simultaneously, we have experienced the transition from the academic world to the functional world of human relations; for now we must subordinate "things" to "people." With this transition, we must not let our technical difficulties, of which there are many, dominate the basic human interest in our patients. Problems such as the blending of true dental needs with momentary pain and distress emphasize the great inadequacy of the refined biologic approach. It is obvious that we must also have a liberal development if we are, in any measure, to approximate the solution.

Great progress has been made in our dental schools to broaden our scientific background so that we may better understand the physiologic being, but we must also broaden our philosophic backgrounds so that we may better understand the human being. Such development does not come in subject-size packages, but must exist as an integral part and vehicle of our overall scientific training. In short, Rx one part knowledge, one part skill, and two parts of understanding, dissolve in humility — mix well and consume daily.

Class History

With strengthened purpose and malice towards none, one hundred six sophomore veterans of the freshman war returned in the fall of '52. The glorious peace was shattered all too soon by hatchets, bayonet condensers and binangle chisels—tsetse flies, saber shins and saddle noses—spike potentials, infractions and—important—Dr. H. G. Wells, Boston dentist!

Reflecting back over the past nine months, we feel that we have accomplished a great deal toward our final goal. Many of us have satisfactorily completed part of our National Board Examinations; our sophomore paper is signed, sealed and delivered, the preparations in our dentiforms are finally up to date, and we have unconsciously learned to quietly sleep through lectures without dropping our eyelids.†

Our class has taken the initiative in promoting good, all-round fellowship by having picnics and outings with the accompanying hot dogs, dates‡, and home plate.

The sophomore can best be compared to the young recruit heading into his first battle with a pack on his back and butterflies in his stomach. He has had the training but he hasn't hurt anyone yet.

As we peer around the clinic doors to see that great expanse of windows, dental chairs and humming engines and to listen to the methodical ringing of instruments against the glass trays, we face the fast-approaching autumn with mixed emotions. To some of us it seems only yesterday that we entered the B. C. D. S., and to others this day seems almost to be a dream that failed to materialize. Regardless of the days that have gone before us, we are now anxiously looking forward to that September morning when we will button our freshly starched white gowns and begin the appealing search for patients—and requirement points.

‡ One thousand pardons to the wives.

Gorgas Odontological Society, an honorary student dental organization, was founded in 1916 in honor of Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas, an illustrious alumnus of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Dr. Gorgas received the degree of D. D. S. from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1855 and an M. D. degree from the Medical Department of the University of Maryland in 1863. In 1865, he became dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, which office he held until 1882. From 1882 to 1911, he served the Dental Department of the University of Maryland as dean and as professor of Prosthetic Dentistry, Dental Medicine, and Oral Surgery. He died in Baltimore on April 8, 1914.

Requirements for entrance into the Society are quite stringent, and thus membership is restricted to a selected few. The members are selected from the Junior class on the basis of their scholastic ability, professional bearing, and character. Invitations are extended to not more than thirty per cent of the Junior class who meet the requirements. Full membership is not awarded until the senior year.

The Society meets once a month at the school. Following a short business meeting, an interesting and informative program is held. These programs are open to non-members. Guest speakers, outstanding men in their fields, present informal talks. Motion pictures on various phases of dentistry are shown, and occasionally the members, themselves, present talks on papers they have written.

The Society holds two social affairs each year: a Christmas party and a spring dinner dance. At the dinner dance, the highlight of the year's activities, the new members receive their keys, and those who are to graduate in June receive an engraved certificate.

The Student Senate, which has become an important factor in student life, was organized in March, 1952. Prior to this time, the Student Activity Committee, composed of student and faculty representatives, served as the student government of the School. Realizing that the Student Activity Committee served in a limited capacity, Dr. Marion W. McCrea, Dr. J. Ben Robinson, and Mr. Gardner P. H. Foley promoted the idea of a more active student government. It was through the untiring efforts of these faculty members that our present Student Senate was organized. In its infancy, the Senate was composed of the president, vice-president and secretary of each class. This group, under the supervision of Dr. McCrea, Dr. Robinson, and Mr. Foley, organized the first Student Senate and wrote its constitution and by-laws.

The current Student Senate, which is doing a very excellent job, is composed of the president of each class and one representative from each section of each class. According to the constitution, the president of the senior class is automatically president of the Senate and the president of the junior class is automatically treasurer. The vice-president and secretary are elective offices.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of this year's Senate was the formulation of a budget for the student activity fee, which is paid by the students each year. Through this budget, the money is allocated for various student affairs, such as dances, athletics and publications.

Considering the many and varied accomplishments that the current Senate body has made, it is evident that the students are beginning to voice their opinions in regard to the various problems that arise in School. From all indications, the problems are being handled in a very democratic way. It is because of the Student Senate that a definite student government is being realized at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery; the students and faculty alike are realizing the important service that the Senate can contribute as a liaison between the students and the faculty.

The Interfraternity Council coordinates the fraternity activities and supervises the conduct of the fraternities, especially in regard to the rushing and pledging of new students. The Council is empowered with the authority to take specific action in cases of violations of its regulations.

Early records indicate that an interfraternity organization existed in 1924. The present Council, however, is governed by the principles and procedures established in February, 1944.

The Council sponsors various sports activities and an annual interfraternity function.

With the war in Korea, and the possibility of an all-out war with the communist powers of the world, it is only right that each American do his part in seeing that the United States is well prepared to protect its freedom.

To insure an adequate number of dentists trained for military duty, the University of Maryland Dental School has adopted the Reserve Officers Training Corps program. This program includes classroom training and summer camp at army base hospitals.

The classroom work consists of numerous lectures which are supplemented with motion pictures, slides, and demonstrations.

This past year the R. O. T. C. students were sent to one of three hospitals. Those who attended the first six weeks summer camp went to Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, and those in the second six weeks camp went either to Brooke Army Hospital in San Antonio, Texas, or to Fort Benning, Georgia.

Crystal Gazing

Baltimore, June 6, 1993. This is your reporter, Dennis Tree with another scoop from the big town. I am covering the 40-year reunion of the Class of '53 at the B. C. D. S. Although these men appear to be old and tired, don't let their appearance disillusion you—they are still as full of spirit, as witty, as intelligent, and as ambitious as they were when they looked tired in '53. But it has been quite some time since these men last saw each other and the favorite conversation piece is the accomplishments of each. Strangely, each member of the class has been quite successful and can boast of varied and strange accomplishments—here they are as told to me:

The greatest event of the past 40 years has been the accomplishment of man's dream—a trip to the moon. But it took a dentist to do it. Dr. Eddie Howard got to the Moon in his own space ship the XS 12-85-10-12 R. Eddie, however, forgot that that ship would go only one way, and it is conjectured that he is building an XS 12-85-10-12 L on the moon right now for the return trip.

Drs. Fogtman and Childress have also achieved fame outside the dental field. They have patented a hair-growing process that really works. As proof, George now has one hair on his head and Jim is sporting a real mop. There are reports coming from West Virginia, however, that Dr. J. Ben Robinson, finally retired as Dean of the West Virginia School, frowns upon the advertising that Jim and George are doing for their formula.

Charlie Teets and Gordon Trust, after trying for 35 years to convert each other, finally got together and went into religion seriously—now, if people don't like what Charlie has to offer, Gordon takes over, and vice-versa.

Dr. Stone found it convenient to go back into the Army (rumor has it that he was drafted), and is now known by his nickname, "The General."

Dr. Lemongello finally got wise and went in with the Jell-O people—it is rumored that they paid him $50,000 to add "Pudding" to the end of his name.

Drs. Maslowski and Jagielski have cornered the market in Polish music and now appear nightly with their band at the Polish Home here in Baltimore. Others of the class have also gone into the music world. The latest thing at Carnegie Hall is Dr. Meyer's Hop-bop-chee-ba boys, but he's running into competition from Gus Oduber's act with originality—Latin music played on Florence flasks, test tubes, and pipettes.

Charlie Blue has set up a Mississippi River gambling boat and is still covering all bets on "Ole Miss" every year she plays Maryland. It is said, and probably with a good deal of reality, that he got the capital to buy his boat from his winnings in the '52 game.

Speaking of colleges, Harry Arant liked Clemson so much that he quit dentistry and has become Dean there. Some of the others of the class who have gone in for education include Dr. Colon-Bonet, who teaches English at Harvard, Bob Hart, who instructs choral groups at Peabody, Jose Munera, who is now Dean of the B. C. D. S., Bob Bridgeman, who has taken over the place vacated by Ernie Nuttall, Bill McBrayer, who has taken over Dr. Gaver's position, and Al MacIsaac, who lectures at the dental school on Public Health Dentistry.

Danny Aiken has become National Grand Master of SED Fraternity, and informs us that the Maryland chapter now has 10 members—good going Danny!

Billy Graham gave up dentistry and religion and decided to concentrate on one thing—politics. He was just elected Commissioner of Street Sweepers in Oakland, Maryland, and is doing a good job of cleaning up the city.

Sam Riggs and Bud Prentice formed a corporation for the manufacture of dolls—they're making some pretty nifty ones too!

Bill Kidd has revolutionized dentistry by patenting his ideas on two sets of dentures—one set for Sunday and one set for eating.

Since Dr. Randolph left to teach at West Virginia in '55, Wayde Rucker has taken over as Director of Clinics in the Baltimore school and is now calm—not a quiver in 38 years.

Drs. Gardenier, Combs and Markwood have become Chiefs of Staff of the Army, Air Force and Navy, respectively, and are serving competently under the Eisenhower administration now in its 41st year!

Berguido led a revolution in Panama some years back and is now known as the Franco of Panama. He rules with an iron fist and keeps a tight check on the Canal. One of his strictest orders is that no ship of the Seese-Tucker fishing fleet shall pass through.

Hall Haymond, Bennie Hirano, and Joe Canizzaro formed a coalition and bought out the controlling stock at Pimlico Race Track. They decided it would be better to buy the Track than to support it with their bets.

Hector DiNardo coached Loyola's lacrosse team, but got caught in the net of a stick; they played with him for two hours before they found he wasn't a ball. So he quit and has gone back into the jewelry and watch repair business.

Since Baltimore got Major League baseball in (?), Bill Carroll, Carl Irvin, and Jack Gibson have signed contracts and are the mainstays of the team.

Cooper and Desjardins have become a well-known team at the Met. They are currently appearing in Pagliacci, with Herman singing tenor and Desjardins singing bass.

Rudy Novello and Tony Spadafore have opened a restaurant in Baltimore called Runny Novefore's and are doing well. Their biggest competition comes from Costianes's Golden Greek Casino only a block away.

Several members of the class have gone in for show business. "Broadway Eddie" Lynch opened a new show a few weeks ago, ably assisted by Wes Seward who managed the chorus line. Bob McNamara, who wrote the musical score, Gus Oduber, who did the choreography, Burt Press, who did the producing and Sel Landman who did the directing. The star of the show is Joe Mitchell who still gets laughs by lousing up jokes.

Some of the other members have gone in for a business closely allied to show business—the Circus. John Gatewood and Smiley Laird have become clowns, Percy Walters is the strong man, Al Bak is the fire eater, and Sy Bernstein is a barker for a sideshow.

Crystal Gazing

Bob Morrison has gone in for commercial artistry, especially calendar art. First it was the Varga girls in the 40's; then the Petty girls in the 50's; and now it's the Morrison girls. However, he has never topped the Marilyn Monroe calendar that appeared in 1952, although he's still trying.

Joe Bonura is running a hotel resort in Florida. He gets most of his business from Oscar Jackson who has become a millionaire since developing a new short-wave radio system.

Buzz Glessner is making business for other dentists. He's manufacturing maple syrup in Vermont, which, of course, increases caries incidence.

Peck Isbister has become owner of a merchant seaman line sailing out of the Baltimore harbor to all points in the world.

Phil Litman, as was expected, was more interested in oil than in dentistry and has become an oil magnate through some shrewd deals. His sales manager is Fred Parsons, who got quite a bit of experience in that sort of thing in Baltimore.

Charlie Saul has opened up the only Musical Bar in West Virginia. He has good music and good refreshments. In fact, the only brand of beer that he carries is that good DeVanny beer brewed by none other than our own Frank Devanny.

Sappington and Rankin have found out how to become rich in dentistry—but that isn't by being dentists—they have set up a dental laboratory.

John Ulrich has become president of a prominent Baltimore Building and Loan Association and is now living on Easy Street—one of Baltimore's new streets in the elite section southeast of the center of town. Just down the street from him lives one of his classmates, Dick Harrison, who has been retired for about 20 years now, but still drives a bus for the Blue Ridge Lines once a month just for kicks.

Jimmy Lanza and Pete Rivera-Torres have gone back to Puerto Rico and opened up a sugar cane plantation, although Pete still thinks that it is a little bit too capitalistic for him.

Uncle Charlie Ledbetter now has a radio program over which he reads comics to all the little children of Raleigh, using his perfect diction and enunciation.

Sid Abrams has become the playboy of Washington and Baltimore and is doing his best to entertain the ladies of both cities. He is rivaled by Bouquet and Murray, the Washington socialites, who have thrown parties and extravaganzas for the most important people in diplomatic circles for the past four decades.

Bill Adkins and Larry Conlin have finally completed their internships necessary for practice in Delaware and are trying to get their practices going.

I am certain that it would make their old professors happy to know that some of the class have gone in for research. Dave Cook is working on a new method of denture retention for alligators in the swamps of North Carolina, and Gagnon, Edgarian, and Goldberg, after 40 years of research have convinced the world that chlorophyll will stain toothbrushes a green color.

Gil Koehler has set up a travel agency, specializing in arranging trips to Florida or to Texas. He advertises that he will not only make all the arrangements for getting you there, but he will also accompany you. One of his first customers was Don Rolley, who finally realized his ambition and practiced dentistry in Texas for a few years until he replaced Dr. Harry B. McCarthy as Dean of Baylor.

Louie Medeiros who found Sommerville too hot, and Danny Shupe who found Frostburg too cold, have traded locations. Shupe is now teaching the use of Visual Aids in Dentistry at Tufts, and Louie is opening a branch of his Father's lab in Western Maryland.

Chuck Wahlberg and Carl Rosa are still leading the crusade against the lab men of Connecticut who make dentures.

Hank Satzger is head of the mosquito control board of North Jersey.

Harold Fellenbaum, still wearing his black sweater with the gold "M," gave everyone a complimentary copy of his new book Why Not Buy a Hundred?, sequel to Cheaper by the Dozen.

Several men have got into influential positions in their native city of Baltimore and now more or less run the town. Bill Wolfel is head of the Health Board and Harry Kohlhepp is head of the Vice Squad. Between the two of them they keep the city clean and healthy. Claude Ramsey and Charley Page are City Councilmen but they still find it hard to resist going up to Hecht's for lunch. Jordan Bloom is Police Chief and has really clamped down on hucksters—it's so tough that no one at the B. C. D. S. would dare sell class rings.

Bud Yost has made a fortune out of his specialty—cleaning second-floor windows.

Harvey Wertz bought out the B&O Railroad and now enjoys engineering the commuter from Washington to Baltimore—I suppose he never could get out of the habit of that daily ride.

George Garrington, after trying for several years to organize it, has finally got the dental school to let him teach a course there on Dentistry for Nurses.

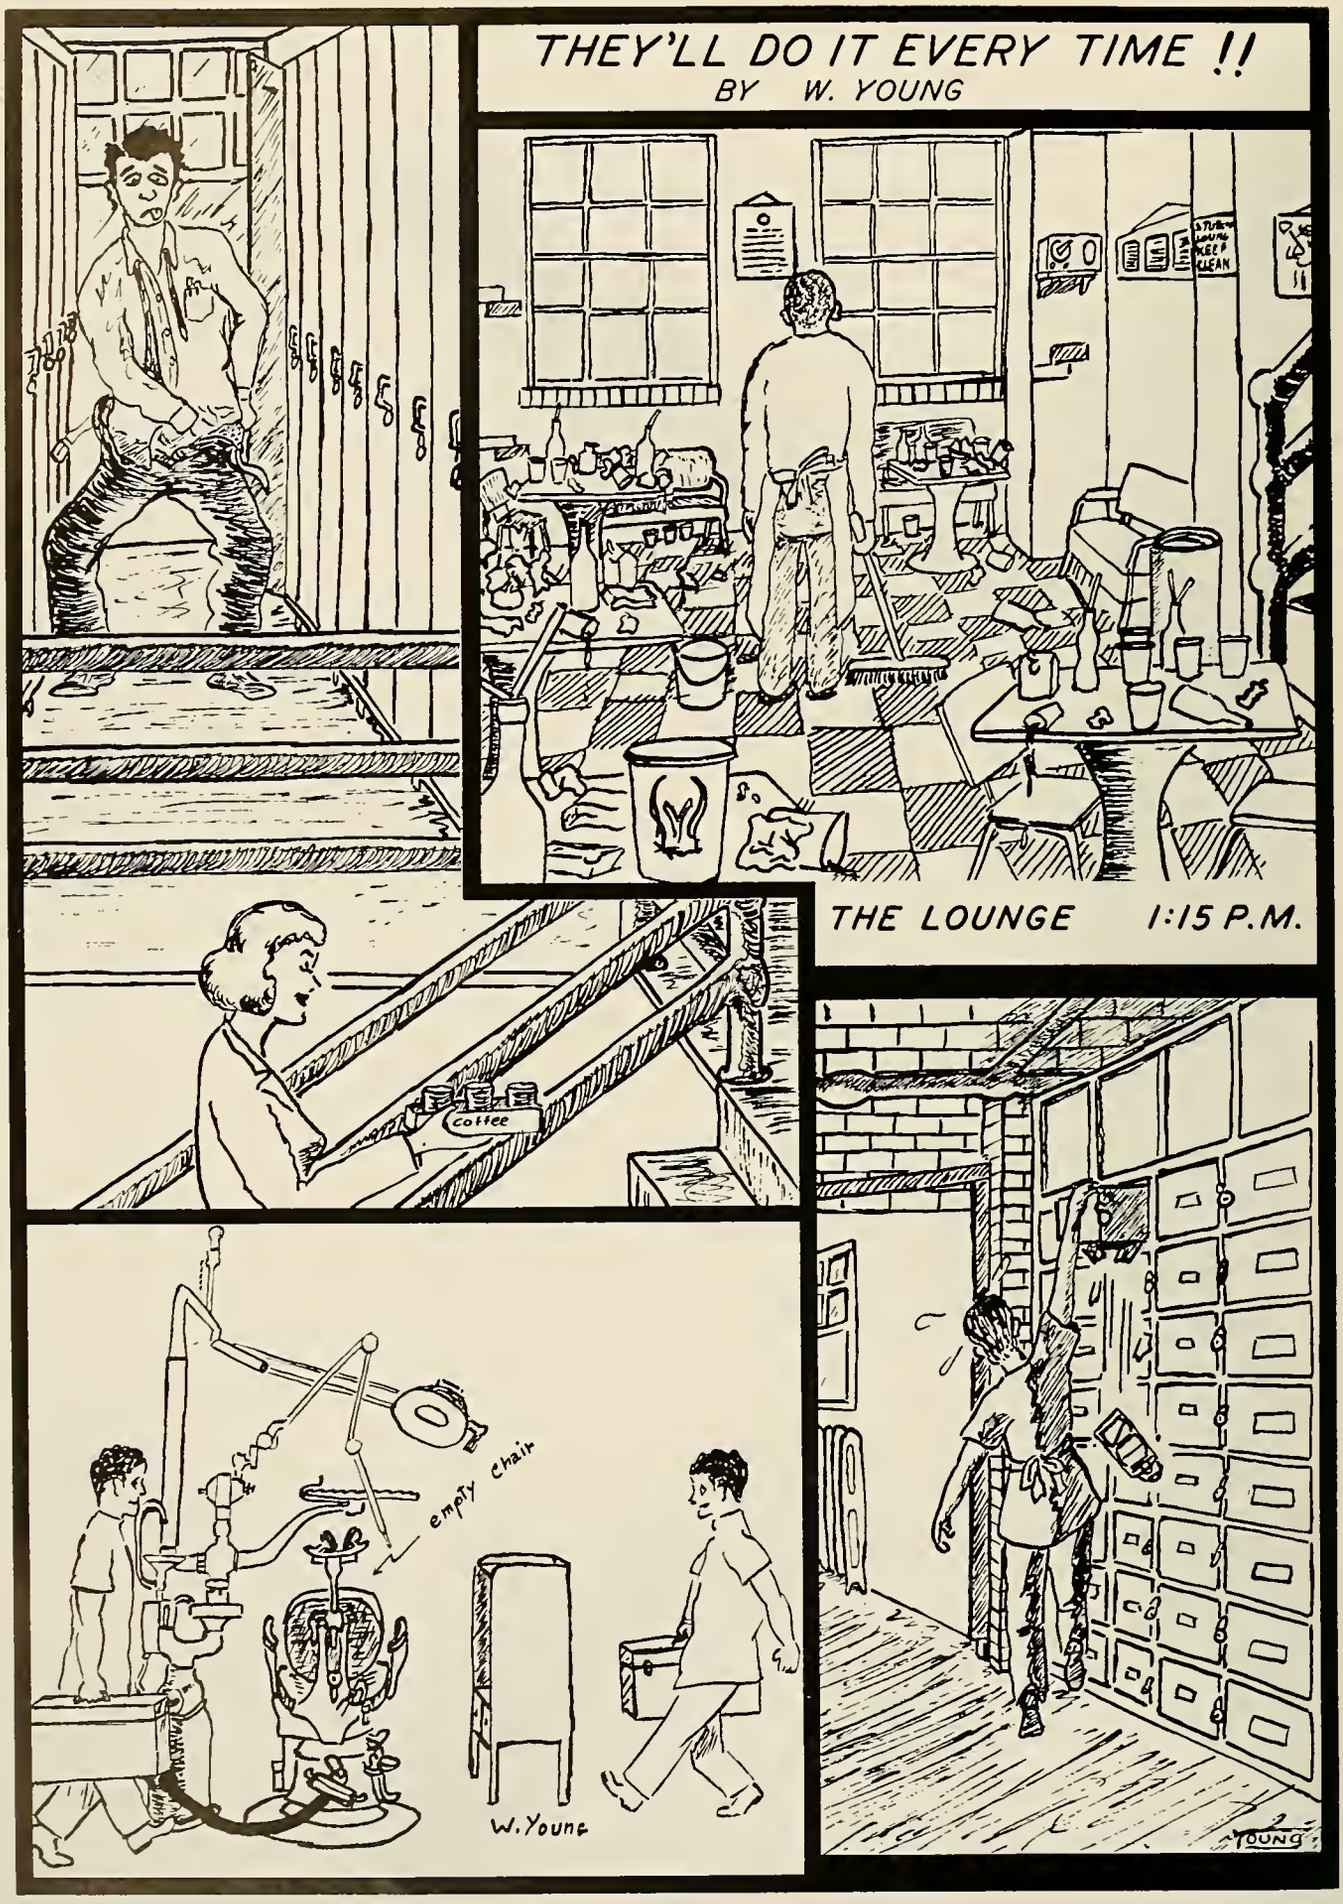
Tom Harris has created a new idea by beginning a chicken ranch, raising the chickens for pets. Now no American child is happy unless he has a chicken to sleep with him at night.

Jack King, immediately after graduating in '53, was drafted into the Army and was stationed on an island in the South Pacific. He liked it so much that when he was discharged he decided to stay there. He made quite a hit with the natives, became the king of the islands, and is now addressed as King King.

Bill Seibert stopped practicing dentistry in the 1960's and went back to his Alma Mater as the basketball coach there. He has won the NCAA and NIT championships for the last 6 years in a row.

Oh, yes! Before closing this report, I would like to say that Joe Boyles is still practicing dentistry in West Virginia. He said that he thought that at least one member of the class ought to, and all agreed with him—as long as he was the one, and not they.

So there it is—the success story of the class of '53. The way those boys have worked, there is no telling what changes may take place in the next ten years, and I hope that I will be around in 2003 A. D. to report on their 50-year reunion. Till then, I have only one last word—keep plugging, fellows.



THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME !!

When any job is being done, it seems to be difficult, tiring and at times, useless. However, there comes a time when the work is done, finis is written, and a moment of relaxing reminiscence presents itself. Then comes the realization that the job was no job at all—it was a pleasure, a never-to-be-forgotten experience, a privilege.

In an assignment such as this, many people put forth a great deal of effort. I want to thank in particular Walter Maslowski, Ed Lynch, Bob Litton and Phil Denu for their time and advice. Thanks also, to Mr. Foley, without whose literary ability and timely suggestions the MIRROR would be an impossibility; to Mr. Segall, Mr. Love and Mr. Penny, who combined their talents to put the book together; and to the Visual Aids Department and Library staff for their help. Of course, there are money worries, but they are capably handled by Dr. Biddix. To all these people it is difficult to show enough appreciation—I hope they know what I mean when I say THANKS.

Research Explains Caries-Control Action of

Amm-i-dent

Urea—provided in high concentration by the high-urea ammoniated dentifrice formula—penetrates deeply into the enamel ... diffuses back to the surface gradually.[8] Here (under the plaque) it hydrolyzes to ammonia ... keeps the pH alkaline for hours[4,7] ... resists the acidifying effect of sugar hydrolysis.[6,7] The high-urea ammoniated dentifrice formula also inhibits growth of acid-producing and other potentially cariogenic bacteria.[3]

Long-range clinical studies, as summarized below, demonstrate the cariostatic effectiveness of Amm-i-dent under actual conditions of use.

DURATION OF STUDY	NUMBER OF PATIENTS			CARIES RATE		% REDUCTION OF CARIES INCIDENCE BY USING AMM-I-DENT

Presenting two new prosthetic aids of major importance in your full and partial denture practice

THE TRUBYTE Bioform® MOULD GUIDE

You'll want this new Trubyte Bioform Mould Guide for a number of reasons — but mostly for the great convenience it provides to the busy practitioner. It will enable you to quickly and accurately select teeth for your full and partial dentures. It will save you time and money in resets and remakes Here in one attractive case are all the available upper and lower anterior moulds of Trubyte Bioform Teeth, with complete information on dimensions and articulations.

THE TRUBYTE Bioform® SHADE SELECTOR ASSORTMENT

Here is the easy and practical way to select shades for full and partial dentures. It practically eliminates the resets, remakes and disappointments that often follow selection with a single shade guide tooth. Why not try this practical prosthetic aid today. It contains 1 x 6 of the twelve shades of the Trubyte Bioform Natural Tooth Color System — the only fully correlated system which offers a full range of selection for all ages and complexions.

2 Outstanding Contributions to Dental Education and Practice

COLUMBIA DENTOFORMS

FROM a humble start 33 years ago Columbia Dentoforms have played an increasingly important role in dental education. Today every dental student in the United States and Canada "cuts" his first teeth on Dentoforms, for we supply Dentoforms to every dental college in the U. S. and Canada and to many in other lands.

In these 33 years there have been many improvements and additions to Dentoforms to meet the ever more exacting demands of teachers. Today Dentoforms number more than a thousand and present conditions the student will encounter in practice. And in graduate years, Dentoforms continue to help clinicians in postgraduate education and to help the busy practitioner in his endless task of patient-education by showing the better dentistry he seeks to give.

BROWN ATTACHMENTS

BROWN Precision Attachments have been used successfully since 1920, when patents were granted to their inventor, Dr. I. Brown. This event followed by only a few years the impetus that Dr. Herman Chayes gave to the advance in removable restorations by the introduction of the precision type of attachment.

So simple, yet so effective and practical are the design and mechanical principles employed in Brown Attachments, that they have defied every effort to improve upon them for 33 years. Except for the addition, about 18 years ago, of the proximal contact type, to give the convenience of a built-in proximal contact, no change in design has been made. The sizes of the Brown Attachment made today are identical with those made 33 years ago — a comforting thought if replacement parts are required.

FOR TOOTH SELECTION

TO CREATE

PERSONALIZED

ARRANGEMENTS

This is an important volume for your dental library. It is a review of basic research for scientific tooth selection and the development of dental character through the use of varied labial surfaces.

Simplified tooth selection procedures are explained in detail. Analysis of tooth color is also treated thoroughly and clearly. The dimensions of color and their significance in a correct color guide are graphically demonstrated to simplify expert selection and matching of tooth colors.

This book is available to dental students and faculty, upon request.

Mr. John McDonnell, College Representative

Baltimore, Maryland

Dear Johnny,

Please express our sincerest congratulations to all the seniors just graduated and our thanks to the student body for their valuable support during the past year.

Don't fail to tell the graduates of the services that we are rendering to men faced with building a secure dental practice. Mention the fact that we know of locations in all the five states that we service and emphasize that we have our fingers on the pulse of the economic conditions of these territories. Above all, remind them of our PERSONALIZED OFFICE PLANNING DEPARTMENT, pointing out that planning is as important to the professional man as the compass is to the captain of a ship.

Remember, Johnny, it isn't the nuts and bolts that go into dental equipment that makes the difference. The big difference lies in service that can't be bought or done without. We are waiting to serve your friends.

With best personal regards to all the faculty and staff.

Yours very truly,

The Deeley Dental Supply Co.
